This publication has been produced with support from a subcontract funded under contract #300-80-0839 with the Department of Education. The contents of this publication do not necessarily reflect the views or policies of the Department of Education or the Far West Laboratory for Educational Research and Development, nor does mention of trade names, commercial products, or organizations imply endorsement by the U.S. Government or the Laboratory.

INTRODUCTION

The Materials Inventory is a list of materials and equipment used to put programs approved by the Joint Dissemination Review Panel into operation at adopting sites. This publication is meant to be used in conjunction with the NDN's annual catalog, Educational Programs That Work.

The program entries, listed in alphabetical order by program name, are followed by an index in the same order. As new programs are approved by the JDRP, their lists of materials can be inserted in alphabetical order.

The entries are not necessarily comprehensive lists of all materials used by each JDRP-approved program; some may give only an idea of the types of materials used and the possible costs that may be incurred when planning a full adoption. Prices are subject to change, and, for some programs, other materials can be substituted for the ones that are listed. Users are cautioned to check with the contact person listed on each entry before purchasing any material.

ISIS Instructional Modules

ISIS modules are designed to be used individually, or grouped into clusters of units, or combined to form full-year science courses. Every module includes a standard text, an Annotated Teacher's Edition, and two forms of a test. Most equipment required is available in standard science classrooms. Nonstandard equipment is specified under the appropriate module. Some modules are available from the commercial publisher, Ginn and Company, which can provide additional product and pricing information. Other modules may be reproduced locally at local expense; arrangements and permission for reproduction must be obtained from the project.
